Dear Ms. McCabe,

My name is Todd DeMelle. I live at 1355 High St. I'm preparing for a Conservation Commission Hearing this Wednesday the 10th to oppose an application to do work on a dam on the wetland plot next to my home (referred to as "42 Mill St" or "0 Mill St").

In preparing for the hearing, I came across the attached document that includes your name in the ConsComm files for the case. It isn't dated and I'm not sure the timing or the context, but it could be relevant in the meeting Wednesday. (It could also be relevant if and when the applicant re-applies for the ANR). Do you happen to recall the timing or context of the document or know if it is still accurate?

A bit more detail... because of the terms of a settlement agreement from 2023 that resolved a lawsuit filed by the applicant against the conservation commission, a building permit needs to be issued for the house construction before work can begin on the stipulated dam repair under review.

My understanding is that the building permit will depend on the planning board issuing an ANR and that the information in this document, relating to an earlier ANR application, could be an important consideration.

Any details you have on this or other related elements of the case would be appreciated!

Thank you!
Todd DeMelle
